

INTERNATIONAL SPY MUSEUM
THE SISTERHOOD OF SPIES
GIRL SCOUT UNDERCOVER MISSION

Everyone thinks you're just a Girl Scout visiting the Spy Museum, but little do they know that you're actually on a mission to uncover the secret history of female spies!

Intelligence Retrieval Location: TRADECRAFT SKILLS—Time to get crafty!

1. That's no ordinary hair brush! What does this grooming gadget really do?

2. American spy Virginia Hall didn't let her artificial leg (nicknamed "Cuthbert") stop her from being one of the most valuable spies in World War II. She created a spy network behind enemy lines and delivered intelligence by tapping out Morse code on this device.

Intelligence Retrieval Location: CLOAK—all is not what it seems!

3. All is not what it seems. Jonna Mendez, former CIA Chief of Disguise, used make-up, wigs, prosthetics and more to turn a young woman into these three characters:

a. _____ b. _____ c. _____

4. This ultimate spy girl accessory, issued by the KGB in the 1960's, brings new meaning to the phrase "kiss of death".

Intelligence Retrieval Location: EARLIEST ESPIONAGE—a long secret history!

5. In "The Rainbow Portrait" of English Queen, Elizabeth I, the artist represents the Queen's reliance on intelligence from her spy network by covering her dress with these two symbols.

a. _____ b. _____

Virginia Hall,
WWII Spy

Jonna Mendez,
Former CIA Chief of Disguise

Queen Elizabeth I, Spymaster?

INTERNATIONAL SPY MUSEUM

THE SISTERHOOD OF SPIES

GIRL SCOUT UNDERCOVER MISSION

Intelligence Retrieval Location: CIVIL WAR—don't get caught behind enemy lines!

6. This leading lady impersonated a male soldier so she could spy for the Union Army during the Civil War.

Man or Woman?

Intelligence Retrieval Location: CELEBRITY SPIES—fame makes a good cover!

7. "Bon Appetit!" This female spy cooked up her mission plans while working for OSS (Office of Strategic Services) during World War II.

Enigma Machine

Intelligence Retrieval Location: CODE BREAKING—women really did the heavy lifting here!

8. It was mostly women (a team of almost 10,000) who worked here to try to break the Nazi Germany's secret codes during WWII!

Good Girl/Bad Spy?

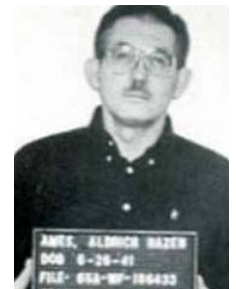

REPORT TO THE FIRST FLOOR

Intelligence Retrieval Location: RED ALLEY—good girl or bad spy?

9. In 1938, this spy was code-named "Good Girl", but was really bad, but then had a change of heart and was later dubbed the "Red Queen."

Intelligence Retrieval Location: WILDERNESS OF MIRRORS VIDEO—soccer moms or spy catchers?

10. These two women look harmless, but they were responsible for targeting and catching one of the most damaging spies in America's history! Who are they?

Aldrich Ames, Spy

